

Animal Nutrition

Manuchar is a worldwide distributor and service provider to the animal feed industry.

We offer our customers a wide range of products and ingredients including various acids, feed minerals, antioxidants, amino acids, trace elements, preservatives and more.

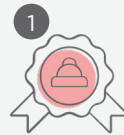

Our specialized sales teams, backed by first-class certified producers and compliant logistic tools, offer high-quality solutions for livestock, pigs, poultry, and pet food.

We comply with the highest standards in the market and are working with GMP+/FamiQS certified producers.

Advantages of Feed additives

Additives improve animals' health and performance in many ways; for example, they support bone formation, strengthen the immune system, promote growth, enhance the digestibility of feed materials, and promote egg laying and milk production.

1 Improve quality of feed

2 Stimulate animal's performance and health

3 No harmful effect on animal's health or the environment
